THIRD WEEK OF STUDIES

“THE FALL OF MAN”

No creature of earth was honored above man. He was above the creeping things, superior to the fowls, and more honorable than the beast. He was given dominion over all earthly creatures. He surpassed them because he was like God. He was righteous, holy, rational, sensitive, and responsible. He had companionship with his Creator and received direct instructions from Him.

To him God commanded, saying, “Of every tree of the garden thou mayest freely eat: but of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it: for in the day that thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die” (Gen. 2:16, 17).

This was a divine command given in both a positive and negative order with a clearly defined punishment in case of disobedience. The positive part of the commandment was a freedom to eat of every tree in the garden with the exception of one. The negative aspect of the divine law had restrictions. One tree was forbidden. Eating fruit from the tree of knowledge of good and evil was strictly out of order. Good and evil constitute the heart of moral law. Adam knew the good, but did not know the evil. God never intended for him to know the evil. God's plan was for man and his posterity to be good forever.

Adam was lonely. God concluded that it was best for him not to be alone. Thus God caused a deep sleep to fall upon him. From the man's side God took a rib and used it to make a woman. He called her name Eve and gave her to Adam.

The two were companions. To her Adam communicated news of God's restrictive law. Either from Adam's conversation or from her own mental reasoning, she came to the conclusion that they should neither taste nor touch the forbidden fruit “lest ye die.”

ADAM FELL

Adam fell and great was the fall. This had a more far-reaching effect upon the earth, the serpent, the woman, the man and the total future human race than any other event in history. The earth came under the curse of God, causing the ground to produce thorns and thistles. The woman's sorrow was multiplied and she became subservient to man, who was to rule over her. The serpent was reduced to the ground and cursed above all cattle, above every beast of the field, and committed to the eating of dust. Enmity was placed between him and the woman and his head was ultimately to be bruised by the seed of the woman. Adam's curse was immense. He faced toil and sweat, thorns and thistles, a guilty conscience, alienation from God, a contaminated posterity, the horrors of death, and the potentiality of hell.

The disobedience of the first pair established a running battle between God and the devil that has continued to this day and will not end until the final redemption that is set forth in the book of Revelation. The human race has been the focal point of this conflict.

So successful has Satan been in his bid for Adam's posterity that the total human race (with only one exception, Jesus) has been born under the curse of sin with every person standing in need of the saving grace of God. Paul, in his book of Romans, presents the universality of sin in the human race.

Read Romans 3:9-31.

According to Romans 3:9, what had Paul proved? _____
_____

According to Romans 3: 10, give a statement about the righteous. _____
_____

According to Romans 3:11-18, quote Paul's proof of the universality of sin. _____
_____
_____

Adam fell from life unto death, from righteousness unto sinfulness, from obedience to rebellion, from innocence unto guilt, from freedom unto bondage, from peacefulness to troubled anxiety, from honor unto shame, from tranquility in Eden unto toiling sweat abroad.
